

Urban-rural disparities in access to improved sanitation facilities in South Asia are the largest in the world.

