I. Context

1. The Executive Boards of the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP)/United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), the United Nations Children’s Fund (UNICEF) and the World Food Programme (WFP) held a joint meeting on 6 June 2003 to address the recommendations of the five-year evaluation of the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS (UNAIDS) contained in document UNAIDS/PCB(13)/02. The joint meeting discussed the implications of the recommendations for UNDP, UNFPA, UNICEF and WFP, and covered UNAIDS operational and governance issues.

2. Members of the Executive Boards proposed that follow-up to the UNAIDS Programme Coordinating Board (PCB) meetings become a regular item on the Boards’ agendas. The present report, the first presented jointly by UNDP, UNFPA, UNICEF and WFP, focuses on implementation of decisions from the 17th PCB meeting in June 2005, and agencies’ follow up to the recommendations of the 18th PCB meeting (see annex 1), held in June 2006.

3. The key issues addressed during the 17th and 18th PCB meetings include: accelerating implementation of the recommendations of the Global Task Team on Improving AIDS Coordination among Multilateral Institutions and International Donors (GTT); intensifying HIV prevention; the transitioning role of the UNAIDS unified budget and workplan; and follow up to the Political Declaration adopted at the General Assembly 2006 High-Level Meeting on AIDS (A/RES/60/252).
II. Accelerating implementation of GTT recommendations

4. Along with the UNAIDS secretariat and other cosponsors, UNDP, UNFPA, UNICEF and WFP have prioritized implementation of the GTT recommendations to improve coordination, harmonization and alignment of efforts to support national AIDS responses.¹ In the last year, significant progress and results have been achieved in several areas, including the UNAIDS technical support division of labour; establishment of joint United Nations teams on AIDS at country-level; the establishment of the Global Joint Problem-Solving and Implementation Support Team (GIST); and mainstreaming of AIDS into poverty reduction strategy papers (PRSPs).

5. The PCB endorsed the UNAIDS division of labour, which has provided a framework for reducing duplication of activities among cosponsors, and for clarifying roles, responsibilities and accountabilities of lead agencies and main partners. The agreed lead roles for each agency have resulted in more effective, coordinated technical support and programming at country level. UNDP, UNFPA, UNICEF and WFP have focused on strengthening internal capacities to support national responses and meet responsibilities under their lead areas.

6. For example, UNDP and the UNAIDS secretariat have strengthened the UNAIDS Reference Group on HIV and Human Rights, and reoriented its work towards country-level action. UNFPA is leading efforts to fortify linkages between sexual and reproductive health and AIDS, including seamless work on reproductive health commodity security and comprehensive condom programming. UNICEF launched the Unite for Children, Unite against AIDS campaign with UNAIDS and partners, to rapidly take to scale programmes for primary prevention, paediatric AIDS treatment, prevention of mother-to-child transmission of HIV (PMTCT) Plus, and protection for children affected by HIV and AIDS. WFP is working with Governments, UNAIDS cosponsors and other partners to ensure that nutritional support is integrated in HIV care and treatment programmes.

7. Following the letter from the Secretary-General to all United Nations Resident Coordinators in December 2005 instructing the establishment of joint United Nations teams on AIDS with joint country support programmes, the United Nations Development Group and the UNAIDS secretariat and cosponsors developed a guidance paper for country teams, with proposed working mechanisms and clear definitions of accountability lines, roles and responsibilities of individual United Nations agencies. The PCB called on Resident Coordinators to rapidly establish joint teams in their respective countries, in line with wider efforts on system-wide coherence at country level. A number of United Nations theme groups have established joint United Nations teams on AIDS, including in Argentina, Burkina Faso, Chile, China, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Dominican Republic, Ghana, Honduras, Lesotho, India, Indonesia, Malawi, Mozambique, Nicaragua, Nigeria, Senegal, Ukraine, Zambia and Zimbabwe.

8. The GIST, which brings together UNDP, WHO, UNICEF, UNFPA, the UNAIDS secretariat, the World Bank and the Global Fund to Fights AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria, has promoted problem-solving and concerted action to accelerate implementation of AIDS programmes, and has resulted in more harmonized approaches among various multilateral partners to address bottlenecks to “making the money work.” GIST has initiated or facilitated specific actions to unblock country-level bottlenecks in the areas of procurement and supply management, governance, management capacity, coordination and harmonization, programme and technical needs, monitoring and evaluation, as well as systemic bottlenecks related to policies, procedures and practices of multilateral institutions and international partners. Analysis and action to address key bottlenecks to implementation of large grants has been undertaken in 14 countries and one region, including Benin, Bolivia, Comoros, Ecuador, Guinea-Bissau, Honduras, Lesotho, Mozambique, Myanmar, Nepal, Niger, Nigeria, Senegal and Ukraine, and in the Caribbean.

9. UNDP, along with the World Bank and the UNAIDS secretariat, is providing technical support for more effectively integrating HIV into new PRSPs, and for improving mainstreaming and implementation modalities in existing PRSP processes. Seven countries were selected for the first phase of this joint initiative and began to roll out country follow-up activities in 2005: Ethiopia, Ghana, Mali, Rwanda, Senegal, United Republic of Tanzania and Zambia. For the second phase, country assessment missions are currently underway in Burkina Faso, Burundi, Kenya, Madagascar, Malawi, Mozambique and Uganda. A review of existing PRSP mainstreaming guides and tools was undertaken, and training materials developed covering the areas of participation, poverty diagnosis, macroeconomic and sectoral policies, and monitoring and evaluation. The initiative will be expanded to a number of additional African and non-African countries, and post-conflict countries engaged in interim PRSP processes will also be supported.

10. UNFPA, in collaboration with the UNAIDS secretariat and other cosponsors, is providing technical support to better link HIV strategies with wider sexual and reproductive health services, to address gender issues and to involve young people in the context of PRSPs and other national mechanisms to attain the Millennium Development Goals. Engaged in 11 of 12 PRSPs under development in 2005, UNFPA emphasized the inclusion of sex-disaggregated indicators; promoted and made available tools and methodologies for Governments to cost reproductive health and gender strategies and activities in Guinea and Mozambique; piloted innovative interventions in reproductive health and promoted them as models for scaling up in Benin, Guatemala, Mauritania and Yemen; advocated with partner Governments and donors for increased investment in reproductive health and gender in the PRSPs in Burundi, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Honduras, Malawi and Senegal; and involved civil society in advocating for reproductive health and gender and in monitoring and evaluation activities in Benin, Burundi, Central African Republic, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Gambia, Honduras, Mauritania, Mozambique and Senegal. UNDP and UNFPA jointly supported participatory poverty assessments in all 13 regions of Namibia. In 2005, UNFPA also produced and disseminated a document entitled The Case for Investing in Young People as part of a National Poverty Reduction Strategy, on how to include youth issues in PRSPs, national development strategies based on the Millennium Development Goals and sectoral reforms and frameworks.
III. Progress made on intensifying HIV prevention

11. Although HIV infection rates have fallen recently in several countries in regions most severely affected by AIDS, the epidemic continues to outstrip global and national efforts to contain it. With more than 4 million new infections in 2005, the number of people living with HIV globally has reached its highest level ever at an estimated 39 million, half of them women.

12. Based on the UNAIDS policy position paper on Intensifying HIV Prevention, endorsed by the PCB at its June 2005 meeting, the UNAIDS cosponsors and secretariat worked intently at headquarters, regional and country levels to support partners’ and stakeholders’ efforts to scale up HIV prevention and implement essential policy and programmatic actions for prevention. As directed by the PCB, UNAIDS developed an action plan for the United Nations system, clarifying roles and responsibilities in supporting the scale-up of HIV prevention. Within the scope of the core functions of UNAIDS, the prevention action plan specifies 18 “key UNAIDS deliverables” for which the secretariat and cosponsors are jointly accountable to contribute to effective scaling up of HIV prevention. Selected examples of action over the past year are included in annex 2.

13. United Nations theme groups and joint United Nations teams on AIDS have been leading United Nations efforts to intensify HIV prevention at country level. Joint programming for HIV prevention is increasingly becoming the main strategy for providing support at country level. At the end of 2005, 72 UNAIDS country offices reported that the joint programme of support at country level included specific activities that supported national efforts to prevent HIV among most-at-risk populations.

14. The commitment to universal access to comprehensive HIV prevention programmes, treatment, care and support by 2010 as elaborated in the Political Declaration on HIV/AIDS adopted by the General Assembly in June 2006 (A/RES/60/262) outlines deadlines for setting national targets and accelerating action in all components of the response. In addition to the implementation of the action plan noted earlier, the UNAIDS family will finalize guidance note on intensifying HIV prevention at country level and support national partners in its implementation.

IV. The unified budget and workplan

15. The UNAIDS cosponsors and secretariat recently revised their key results under the 2006-2007 unified budget and workplan, and in some cases reprogrammed resources, to take account of GTT recommendations and other global initiatives and priorities. In addition, a performance monitoring and evaluation framework was developed to strengthen results-based management of the Joint Programme.

16. The PCB endorsed the revised key results and the performance monitoring and evaluation framework, and also approved a supplemental budget line of $40 million to fund provision of technical support to countries in 2006-2007. This will better enable the UNAIDS secretariat and cosponsors to implement the GTT...
recommendations and support countries’ efforts to achieve universal access to HIV prevention, treatment, care and support by 2010.

17. Over the coming months, a working group comprising the UNAIDS secretariat and selected cosponsors (including UNDP, UNFPA, UNICEF and WFP) will develop a transition plan for the 2008-2009 unified budget and workplan for consideration by the PCB at the 19th meeting in December 2006. Working groups based upon lead-agency and partner roles will be established within the Cosponsor Evaluation Working Group to move forward on the endorsed performance monitoring and evaluation framework (unified budget and workplan 2006-2007).

V. Follow-up to the 2006 High-Level Meeting on AIDS

18. The 2006 High-Level Meeting on AIDS marked the beginning of a new phase in global efforts to halt the spread of HIV, and comprehensively address the drivers and impacts of AIDS. In the face of massive challenges and the continuing spread of HIV, the international community committed to scale up towards the goal of universal access to comprehensive HIV prevention, treatment, care and support by 2010.

19. Intensified global action against AIDS requires intensified support from the UNAIDS secretariat and 10 cosponsors. During the 18th PCB meeting, delegations encouraged the Joint Programme to strengthen assistance to national coordination of AIDS responses, as elaborated in the “three ones” principles. UNAIDS will support national participatory reviews through the development and use of the Country Harmonization Assessment Tool, a scorecard-style accountability tool for the measurement of national stakeholders’ participation in the AIDS response and international partner alignment.

20. In 2006, the UNAIDS secretariat and cosponsors will support national efforts to set ambitious targets on HIV prevention, treatment, care and support, including interim targets for 2008. These targets will reflect the commitment of the 2006 Political Declaration on HIV/AIDS and the urgent need to scale up significantly towards the goal of universal access to comprehensive prevention programmes, treatment, care and support by 2010. To this effect, UNDP, UNFPA, UNICEF and WFP will support elaboration of a guidance note to facilitate development of national targets and address issues of accountability.

21. The UNAIDS cosponsors and secretariat will increase their engagement with civil society, including networks of people living with HIV, to facilitate strong civil society participation in target setting and monitoring and reporting on progress over the next five years. An action plan, which may include recommendations on potential retirement or consolidation of tasks, will be developed and presented to the PCB in December 2006 to support countries’ efforts in 2007-2010 to fully implement the 2006 Political Declaration, including proposals to help developing countries employ flexibilities outlined in the World Trade Organization’s Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights.

22. In addition, the UNAIDS cosponsors and secretariat are continuing to strengthen their response to the feminization of the epidemic. In partnership with national Governments, a gender assessment of national AIDS plans will be conducted and technical and policy guidelines to address gender issues will be developed by June 2006, for use by Governments, national AIDS programmes, donors, international agencies, the United Nations system and non-governmental organizations (NGOs).

23. In summary, and to quote the report of the UNAIDS Executive Director for the 18th meeting of the PCB (UNAIDS/PCB (18)/06.2):

Priority areas for us in the near future include improving the coherence and effectiveness of UN efforts and making the money work, pursuing harmonization and alignment, and increasing technical support. Reducing vulnerability through a gender-sensitive approach grounded in the promotion and protection of human rights will continue to be one of our main areas of focus. Advocacy, resource mobilization, policy advice and partnership development will remain central to UNAIDS’ work, together with the promotion of new prevention and treatment technologies.

7.10. Requests UNAIDS, in partnership with national governments, to conduct a gender assessment of three to five national AIDS plans and in addition submit to the Programme Coordinating Board, at its 2007 meeting, technical and policy guidelines to address gender issues in a practical way for use by governments, national AIDS programmes, donors, international agencies, the UN system and nongovernmental organizations in response to the increased feminization of the epidemic;

for voluntary disclosure of HIV status; takes note of the idea for an international HIV testing day as a way to promote greater access to voluntary HIV counselling and testing, organized with the participation of civil society, especially networks of people living with HIV, and requests UNAIDS to analyze the potential impact of and implementation issues relating to an international testing day, no later than December 2006;

7.13. Requests UNAIDS to develop for review by the Programme Coordinating Board at its December 2006 thematic meeting a 2007-2010 framework for the Joint Programme’s support to countries’ efforts to implement fully the 2001 Declaration of Commitment on HIV/AIDS and the 2006 Political Declaration on HIV/AIDS, taking into account the recommendations made by UNAIDS in its assessment on scaling up HIV prevention, treatment, care and support;

7.15. Requests UNAIDS, within its mandate and in cooperation with the World Trade Organization, to include in the framework referred to in decision 7.13 proposals on how to help enable developing countries to employ the flexibilities outlined in the World Trade Organization’s Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights and to strengthen their capacities for this purpose;

Agenda item 3: Effectiveness of multilateral action on AIDS

8. Taking note of the progress on applying the “Three Ones” principles at country level, the actions of the multilateral partners in implementing the recommendations of the Global Task Team, and reaffirming the role of the UNAIDS Secretariat in coordinating the international support to the national AIDS response to ensure most effective and rapid progress towards universal access, the Programme Coordinating Board:

8.1. Urges all partners to fully respect their commitments to the “Three Ones” and the Global Task Team recommendations;

8.2. Urges all partners to ensure that the provision of technical and financial support to national AIDS responses is fully harmonized and aligned in accordance with the “Three Ones” principles, and the 2003 Rome and 2005 Paris Declarations on Aid Effectiveness;

8.3. Urges UNAIDS and partners to support the finalization and piloting of guidelines and to provide resources to support civil society involvement in the implementation of the “Three Ones” and to ensure strengthened national AIDS responses through more inclusive and coordinated stakeholder action;

8.4. Requests UNAIDS Cosponsors and the Secretariat, and invites the Global Fund and other development partners, to accelerate implementation of the Global Task Team recommendations as a concrete response to the UN Secretary-General’s call for greater UN system-wide coherence, and to pay particular attention to the “second One” — the national coordinating authority. The national coordinating authority should, with guidance from UNAIDS, take the lead on reducing duplication between Country Coordinating Mechanisms and national coordinating authorities, in order to retain the best features of both (particularly the inclusive nature of Country Coordinating Mechanisms), and to consider eventual mergers where appropriate;

8.5. Requests the members of the Programme Coordinating Board and UNAIDS to support discussion at the relevant boards (World Bank and the Global Fund) on the findings in the Shakow report on “Global Fund — World Bank HIV/AIDS Programmes”;

8.6. Calls upon UN Resident Coordinators, in accordance with the 12 December 2005 letter of the UN Secretary-General, to establish rapidly in their respective countries a Joint UN Team on AIDS with one Joint UN HIV/AIDS Programme of Support and one consolidated budget for AIDS, in line with the decisions of the Programme Coordinating Board at its 17th meeting, and to do so in line with wider efforts on coherence of the UN development system at country level;

8.7. Endorses the UNAIDS Technical Support Division of Labour, its adaptation to national realities and its implementation by UN Country Teams and Joint UN Teams on AIDS, as a basis for providing UN technical support to the national AIDS response; encourages UNAIDS Cosponsors to resolve any remaining areas of overlap in light of experience at the country level in implementing the Division of Labour; and further recommends an independent assessment of Global Task Team implementation at country level to report to the December 2006 meeting of the Programme Coordinating Board;

8.8. Endorses the complementary approaches to increasing UNAIDS technical support to national AIDS programmes — as elaborated in the paper for agenda item 3 — including through the mobilization by UNAIDS of an additional US$ 40 million for the biennium 2006-2007 as an interagency component of the Unified Budget and Workplan, specifically dedicated to the provision of technical support to countries, and through expanded use of the Programme Acceleration Fund mechanism, and recommends that UNAIDS reports on the deployment of these resources at the global, regional and country level, providing a breakdown of allocations to technical support providers and beneficiaries;

8.9. Recommends that UNAIDS Cosponsors, the UNAIDS Secretariat and the Global Fund work closely to strengthen links among Technical Support Facilities, technical support mechanisms of the Cosponsors, the Global Joint Problem Solving Team — including related mechanisms at country level — and the Global Fund Early Alert and Response system to ensure the rapid provision of technical support to unblock implementation obstacles;

8.10. Recommends that partners participating in the Global Joint Problem Solving Team support its Chair and the UNAIDS Secretariat in its effective and efficient operation;

8.11. Further recommends the involvement of other development partners, such as bilaterals and NGOs, where necessary, in the Global Joint Problem Solving Team; and

8.12. Encourages UNAIDS to ensure the participation of civil society in the piloting of the Country Harmonization Assessment Tool in several countries, and requests
UNAIDS to present the results of these pilots for consideration at the December 2006 thematic meeting of the Programme Coordinating Board.

Agenda item 4: Unified Budget and Workplan (UBW): funding UNAIDS’ role in the multilateral response

9. The Programme Coordinating Board:

9.1. Endorses the 2006-2007 Unified Budget and Workplan Performance Monitoring and Evaluation Framework to strengthen results-based management of the Joint Programme — including its scope, approaches and mechanisms — and looks forward to receiving reports developed in the context of the Framework;

9.2. Approves the revision of the Key Results of the UNAIDS Cosponsors and the Secretariat in the 2006-2007 Unified Budget and Workplan and the planned reprogramming of resources within the approved budget, in order to take into account the recommendations of the Global Task Team and other recent initiatives;

9.3. Approves the proposed amendment of the 2006-2007 Unified Budget and Workplan to include a new supplemental budget line in the interagency part in the amount of US$40 million specifically dedicated to the provision of technical support to countries; and

9.4. Endorses the proposal for the development of the 2008-2009 Unified Budget and Workplan, and looks forward to consideration of the transition plan for the Unified Budget and Workplan at its 19th meeting in December 2006, which should take into account the implications of the 2006 Political Declaration on HIV/AIDS.

Annex 2

Selected examples of UNDP, UNFPA, UNICEF and WFP action on HIV prevention

Linking sexual and reproductive health and HIV/AIDS

1. UNFPA is working with partners to intensify prevention and strengthen HIV and sexual and reproductive health linkages. This includes seamless planning and work on reproductive health commodity security and comprehensive condom programming for HIV prevention; universal access to reproductive health; gender-based violence; the prevention of infection in women and young people; and meeting the sexual and reproductive health needs of people living with HIV, especially women and girls.

2. With the aim of preventing condom shortages, 85 countries are now using the UNFPA Country Commodities Manager, a tool to assist countries in assessing reproductive health commodity requirements, stock positions and possible shortfalls. UNFPA contributed $40 million in 2005 to address emergency condom shortfalls in 51 countries. Broad partnerships are being established for intensified comprehensive condom programming for male and female condoms.

3. Building on the New York and Glion calls to action and in recognition of the role of reproductive health in reaching the Millennium Development Goals, UNFPA, together with UNAIDS, WHO and the International Planned Parenthood Federation, jointly developed advocacy, policy and programmatic guidance for linking sexual and reproductive health and HIV/AIDS. The resulting Framework for Priority Linkages defines the key actions yielding significant health benefits by learning one’s HIV/AIDS status and accessing services, promoting safer and healthier sex, optimizing the connection between services for HIV/AIDS and sexually transmitted infections (STIs), and integrating HIV/AIDS with maternal and infant health. Geração Biz (“busy generation”) in Mozambique is a UNFPA-supported programme that is being successfully scaled up in 8 of the country’s 11 provinces. By the end of 2009, the programme plans to be present in all provinces and reach at least 60 per cent of the total youth/adolescent population (10-24 years).

Children

4. UNICEF, UNAIDS and partners launched the global campaign, Unite for Children, Unite against AIDS, which offers a platform to mobilize global commitment for children and AIDS in the areas of primary prevention, paediatric AIDS treatment, PMTCT Plus and protection for children affected by AIDS. The Global Partners Forum on Children Affected by HIV and AIDS, hosted by UNICEF and the United Kingdom Department for International Development, prioritized seven key interventions that will assist the accelerated scaling up of interventions. UNICEF and WFP are reviewing evidence around school feeding as an approach in response to the children and AIDS crisis, including the utility of take-home rations.

Preventing mother-to-child transmission of HIV

5. UNFPA, UNICEF and the World Health Organization (WHO), in collaboration with other members of the global PMTCT inter-agency task team, organized a high-level global partners’ forum on PMTCT in December 2005 in Abuja. Partners reviewed progress based on the “PMTCT Report Card” and defined a framework of accelerated action to achieve targets agreed at the 2001 General Assembly Special Session on HIV/AIDS. UNICEF, WHO, the United States Centres for Disease Control and Prevention, the Elizabeth Glaser Pediatric AIDS Foundation and national partners are organizing joint missions to 21 high-burden countries, and based on new developments in programme guidance, UNICEF and WHO have produced an addendum to the current indicator guidelines for PMTCT and paediatric AIDS treatment to facilitate monitoring at country level.

6. UNICEF, UNFPA and WHO continue to work towards expanding action in the four elements of comprehensive approach to PMTCT relevant to their mandate and expertise. UNFPA has been active in integrating voluntary counselling and testing services within reproductive health and maternal and child health, along with orienting information, education and communication materials towards primary prevention in women and girls. UNICEF supported the expansion of programmes in 79 countries focused on provision of antiretroviral (ARV) drugs, combined with safe-delivery practices and infant feeding counselling, as well as ARV treatment for women, treatment for opportunistic infections and measures to provide care and support to families.

Young people

7. UNICEF, UNFPA, WHO and the UNAIDS secretariat are working to finalize a series of technical reports that summarize the evidence of effectiveness of interventions targeting HIV prevention, treatment and care for young people. Through the Inter-Agency Task team (IATT), UNFPA and UNICEF are developing joint cosponsor programming briefs for United Nations country teams (UNCTs), based on the evidence, while the secretariat and WHO are commissioning a set of policy documents around the evidence. WHO is organizing a satellite session with IATT members and academics to present the evidence at the Toronto International AIDS Conference.

8. WHO has been convening a number of regional meetings with UNCTs, with support from UNFPA and UNICEF around intensifying the health sector prevention response with and for young people. UNICEF and WHO have organized a global consultation with partners to look at the role of young people living with HIV, which will cover their prevention, care and support needs. In collaboration with the UNAIDS secretariat and UNICEF, WHO has been leading the development of guidance around adolescents’ access to confidential testing and counselling.

9. Support for youth-adult partnerships and meaningful youth participation can be found in every region. In Eastern Europe and Central Asia, UNFPA-supported “Y-PEER” education activities have reached over 2 million young people and have become an example of good practices for integrated behavioural change communication and communication technologies which utilize the power of young people to prevent HIV and other STIs. The Y-PEER network has been expanded to all countries in this region and the Arab States. Ownership over youth network coordination has been transferred to a 12-member Y-PEER Youth Advisory Board.

3 Y-PEER includes 27 country internet portals in national languages of Eastern Europe and Central Asia. The website is the most comprehensive electronic resource of material related to peer education, youth participation, life-skills education and youth-friendly services in the world. The year 2004 saw a 670 per cent increase in site viewers. The regional and national networks have expanded coverage to 191 NGOs and institutions. Forty-six different events in 22 countries were organized through Y-PEER national networks.

10. UNFPA, through the Population Council and with support of the UNAIDS secretariat and UNICEF, produced technical guidance on policies and programmes for very young adolescents, and is leading inter-agency efforts to fill information gaps related to coverage of youth prevention services in 50 countries. UNICEF, through the IATT on young people and HIV and with the support of UNFPA, WHO, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) and the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, is convening a technical support group which will support scaled-up integrated action by United Nations regional and country teams in five regions, around HIV prevention with the most-at-risk adolescents. These will provide important information to joint agency efforts including the UNICEF-led Unite for Children, Unite against AIDS campaign.

Combating stigma and discrimination

11. Recognizing that stigma and discrimination are critical impediments to HIV prevention efforts, UNDP has collaborated with key stakeholders in all regions — including NGOs, religious leaders, media practitioners and artists — to promote human rights and transform negative social perceptions relating to people living with HIV and women. In the Arab States, eminent religious leaders signed the Cairo Declaration in response to the HIV/AIDS epidemic, and addressed rights of people affected by HIV and vulnerable groups. In 17 countries in Africa, the Arab States, Asia and the Caribbean, the UNDP Community Capacity Enhancement programmes have created spaces for men and women to address underlying causes influencing the spread of the virus, including stigma, discrimination and gender-power relations. Implemented in partnership with NGOs and community-based organizations, the programmes have helped communities to challenge harmful practices, including female genital mutilation/cutting, bride sharing and gender-based violence.

Key and vulnerable populations

12. In April 2006, the UNAIDS Committee of Cosponsoring Organizations agreed that the approach of the UNAIDS family to HIV and sex work would focus on a unified response and a holistic approach to include prevention, respect for human rights, gender concerns and a package of services. UNFPA and the UNAIDS secretariat convened a United Nations system consultation to begin discussions on a comprehensive rights-based approach. A global consultation involving key stakeholders is planned for July 2006.

13. UNICEF, through the inter-agency working group on HIV attributed to injecting drug use (led by UNODC), helped to facilitate the International Youth Harm Reduction Network at the 17th International Conference on Drug Related Harm.

14. UNDP, UNFPA, UNICEF, WFP, WHO, the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees and the UNAIDS secretariat, together with the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations, the United Nations Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs and the Integrated Regional Information Networks, are collectively undertaking a joint work programme on scaling up HIV interventions in emergency settings. One example at the country level is Swaziland, where UNFPA and WFP, in partnership with the Ministry of Education, are jointly implementing a project to raise awareness and understanding of HIV, gender and related issues among communities through the Government’s Relief Committee.
