Evaluation of effectiveness of national policies and programmes in reducing violence against children in Guyana and Suriname	A cohesive, safe and just Caribbean	Improved and equitable prevention of and response to violence, abuse, exploitation and neglect of children	Both countries have a high level of violence against children. The CPD has a clear focus on strengthening the countries' child protection systems. The evaluation will provide an important opportunity to assess the systems' effectiveness in reducing violence.	Inform decision-making on policies, development, organizational effectiveness and programme design; provide information to UNICEF and partners on how to further sharpen interventions to increase systems' effectiveness.	2019	Estimated cost for both countries together: 150 000 (mix of RR and OR)
Evaluation of mainstreaming of climate-change reduction education in the education sector	An inclusive, equitable and prosperous Caribbean	Improved learning outcomes and equitable and inclusive education	This is a niche in which UNICEF will be intensifying its efforts throughout the country programme. The evaluation will provide clear information on the level of mainstreaming of climate-change reduction education in the education sector.	Inform the better design of future interventions and help UNICEF and partners to identify how to improve the system.	2020	Estimated cost: 100 000 (OR)
