Poverty Eradication and Reduction of Inequalities

Agenda 2030 recognises that “eradicating poverty in all its forms and dimensions is essential to sustainable development”, which was reaffirmed by Member States in the QCPR.

Eradicating poverty requires addressing access to services and resources and reducing exposure to risks. Addressing poverty in all forms and dimensions, we will jointly look into connections and synergies among us and other UN agencies, to enable one agency’s actions that will draw dividends in others.

To reach universal goals, we must address the root causes of exclusion and deprivation deeply imbedded in economic, social and political disenfranchisement, by jointly deploying the comparative advantages of each agency that leaves no one behind and starts with the furthest behind first.

Climate Change

2030 Agenda notes, “The global nature of climate change calls for the widest possible international cooperation aimed at accelerating the reduction of global greenhouse gas emissions and addressing adaptation to the adverse impacts of climate change,”

Advance risk-informed analysis and programming by tapping on the comparative advantages of each agency and relationships with planning, finance, and sectoral ministries

Scale-up support for the integration of climate action in programmes, partnerships and investments, across the economic, social and environmental dimensions

Collaboratively support countries to strengthen and build the policy, legal, regulatory and financing frameworks and institutions necessary to address climate risk

Prevention and Resilience Building

The QCPR calls upon entities of the UN development system to “...enhance coordination with humanitarian assistance and peacebuilding efforts at the national level in countries facing humanitarian emergencies and in countries in conflict and post-conflict situation,” and addressing “...joint risk analysis, needs assessments, practice response and a coherent multi-year timeframe,”

Operationalise the ‘New Way of Working’ on the humanitarian- development- peace nexus based on collective outcomes across the UN System and the broader humanitarian and development community

Focus on reduction of vulnerability to disasters and conflicts through risk-informed programming, and advocacy to address root causes of fragility

Take systematic approach to risk analysis and mitigation in all SPs

Implement resilience agenda by supporting and empowering local and national actors, increasing transparency, and using cash-based interventions

Develop innovative financing tools

Data for Development

SDG 17 target: ...significantly increase the availability of high-quality, timely and reliable data disaggregated by income, gender, age, race, ethnicity, migratory status, disability, geographic location and other characteristics relevant in national contexts'

QCPR calls for action to build national statistical capacities '...to collect, analyse and increase significantly the availability of high-quality, timely and reliable data....and address the gap in the data collection and analysis,'

Based on respective comparative advantages from civil registration, surveys, population censuses, demographic intelligence to big data, we will work together with partners to:

Build capacity of national statistical systems in an integrated and holistic way to achieve higher synergy and efficiency

Harness data revolution and use of 'big data' to scale up and strengthen data ecosystems

Improve use of real-time, dynamic and disaggregated data to help achieve and monitor the full spectrum of SDGs, instead of siloed approach

Strengthen How We Will Work Together

- Prepare a specific common chapter for insertion in each Plan keeping in mind word limitations.
- Develop complementary and, where technically feasible and effective, common outcome indicators, and agency indicators according to comparative advantages.
- Identify additional areas in the SPs where common language can be included, e.g. RBM, M&E, etc.
- Develop a common set of QCPR indicators and their integration in our results frameworks.

Common Approach: Results-based Management

- We will align with common concepts and definitions within the UNDG RBM Handbook and adhere to RBM approaches within the UNDAF Guidelines and the UNDG SOPs including theories of change.
- We will mainstream the principle of leaving no one behind in defining results, starting with the furthest behind first; and linking results statements to the SDGs.
- Each of the Strategic Plans will follow-up on a common set of indicators monitoring follow-up to the QCPR. These indicators are already under development. All results frameworks will include annual milestones at the output level, the level of results where individual agencies contribute most directly and are accountable for achievement.
- We will use the same methodologies for assessing performance against targets.

Common Approach: Results-based Management

- We are committed to establishing stronger linkages between results and resources in our IRRFs.
- We will develop IRRFs with similar architecture which identify how total resources available are allocated against agreed interagency cost categories and present them as part of our Strategic Plans.
- We are committed to computing resource requirements in an evidence-based manner that supports efforts to strengthen results-based management and results-based budgeting.

Common Approach: Country-level Programming

- We will use UNDAF as common instrument to define integrated approach to support implementation of Agenda 2030
- We will collect and analyse data, particularly at country level, through Common Country Assessment or equivalent tool.
- We will strategically integrate areas of collaborative advantage as important elements of our contributions in UNDAFs or other relevant instruments
- We will undertake action through the means best suited to achieving results at country level

Common Approach: Partnerships

- We are committed to working through partnerships, with sister agencies/entities in the UNDS, across the 3 pillars of the UN, in development and crisis/post-crisis contexts.
- We will do so with the private sector, civil society, volunteer groups, academia, foundations and others.
- We will also explore greater use of rapidly growing partnership modalities such as South-South and Triangular Cooperation.
- How we do this will need to be handled flexibly at country level, depending on contributions determined within UNDAFs and/or equivalent tools and the capacities, relationships and resources available to agencies/entities.

Common Approach: Innovation

- We commit to enhancing joint innovation and leveraging technological advances to support countries to achieve the SDGs and leave no one behind.
- Through the UN Innovation Network, we will share good practices and priorities to avoid duplication of innovation work on similar themes.
- We will capitalize on synergies as well as research and development, and use the Network to inform joint programmes as well as incubation and testing.
- We will enhance innovation to integrate humanitarian and development responses in a coherent and sustainable manner for empowering affected populations.
- We will optimise innovative scaling opportunities together with a wide range of partners to support country-led sustainable development.

Common Approach: Operations

- We adopted common Reference Risk Management, Oversight & Accountability Model for UN system with 'Three Lines of Defence Model' developed by Institute of Internal Auditors and new UN system-wide Data Catalogue with living inventory of UN system open data resources, facilitating awareness and data accessibility.
- Going forward, we commit to bring further efficiencies and cost savings to our operations by modernizing and streamlining business practices, reducing transaction costs, and increasing quality. To complement that, we are also moving forward towards mutual recognition of each other's best practices in terms of policies and procedures, as requested to do so in the QCPR (OP 52).
- We commit to measuring joint QCPR indicators to underscore the above mentioned slides on strengthening how we will work together.

Ongoing Work and Next Steps

- Prepare specific common chapter
- Develop complementary and, where technically feasible and effective, common outcome indicators, and agency indicators according to comparative advantages.
- Develop shared QCPR indicators to be included in results frameworks
- Develop robust theories of change that:
 - Recognize interdependence of UNDP, UNFPA, UNICEF, UN Women, and other UN agencies
 - Realize strengths, comparative advantages, and complementarities
 - Clarify development pathways and partnerships
 - Identify risks and build resilience
- Translate organizational strategies into actions through DaO/SOPs, UNDAF

Thank you!
