UNICEF Response highlights in 2015

- UNICEF and partners provided access to health services and essential medicines to 850,000 people in the most affected areas. A national measles campaign is scheduled for November.
- In Bangui, 7 ambulatory units are operational with support from UNICEF and partners and screening in priority sites is ongoing.
- UNICEF and partners built additional latrines for more than 15,000 IDPs in the 10 priority sites after a major influx of people due to recent clashes.
- An additional 15,000 children are benefitting from psychosocial support in Bangui IDP sites.
- Nearly 40,000 highly vulnerable families in remote areas received essential items such as soap, jerry cans and blankets through the Rapid Response Mechanism.
Urgent actions for children in 2015

- In 2015, UNICEF still needs US $45 million to promote the protection of children, access to social services for the most vulnerable, and lifesaving activities.
- Bringing supplies to CAR and dispatching humanitarian articles to the humanitarian hubs in the interior of the country is prevented by attacks on humanitarian convoys and remains a serious threat to the timeliness of the response.
- Insecurity and underfunding put effective implementation of lifesaving activities at risk: more than 200,000 children under 5 remain to be reached with measles vaccination in IDP sites and epidemic areas, nearly 60,000 people remain in need of improved access to sanitation facilities, more than 7,000 under 5 children with SAM need treatment and nearly 20,000 children are still in need of access to Education.
- Tremendous progress has been achieved regarding demobilization in 2015 with over 2,200 children released from armed groups.
