Title: Capacity gap analysis of pupils’ councils to efficiently support child participation in decision making process related to school life and education

Type of consultancy: National Individual Consultancy

Duration: 44 working days over a period of three (3) months

Timeframe: December 2020 – February 2021

1. Background

The Education Code of the Republic of Moldova establishes clear requirements for democratic participation, of children, parents and school personnel in the decision-making processes related to education and school life. The National Education Strategy reinforces this by making similar references to child participation in education, in the context of delivering the education for life principle, as well as active citizenship and social cohesion through quality education.

In accordance with the Child Friendly Schools standards, in July 2018 MECR approved the curriculum for the compulsory school subject Education for Society (EpS) from the 5th to the 12th grade, which aims to develop competencies for democratic and active citizenship. One important aspect of this curriculum is making pupils voices heard, including through Pupils’ Council and Students’ Councils. The core element of the curriculum is project-based learning in which all students practice and further develop competences for participation and contribution to decision making including through pupils’ participatory mechanisms such as councils and committees.

A smooth implementation of the EpS ergo of the Education Code and “Education 2020” Strategy will allow nurturing talents, energy and creativity of pupils and students. Therefore, mapping of existing policies and practices supporting adolescent participation and civic engagement followed by an assessment of capacities of the existing pupils’ participatory mechanisms will inform the Ministry of Education, Culture and Research MECR, and also UNICEF teams on further capacity building needs of pupils’ councils alongside with schools for enhancing democratic participation and engagement of young people in decision making processes in education and school life.

In this context, UNICEF Moldova is seeking an individual consultant to Conduct a capacity gap assessment of pupils’ and students’ councils to meaningfully and effectively participate in decision making processes related to education and school life.

2. Purpose of work

The purpose of the consultancy is to enhance the participation of adolescents in decision making related to school life and education, as well as identify the gaps and barriers that hinder the efficient functionality of pupils’ councils at local, rayonal and national levels.
3. Objectives

The objectives of the consultancy is to conduct the capacity assessment to identify areas for improvement, develop a set of recommendations, very concrete and specific to address the identified gaps, and support the advocacy efforts of MECR and UNICEF to strengthen the policies and mechanisms aiming at pupils’ participation in decision making process at school and education.

The results of the capacity gap assessment will form the basis for developing of practical recommendations and a capacity building plan of actions to strengthen national and local pupils’ councils.

4. Details of how the work should be delivered

The consultant, under the supervision of the UNICEF Youth and Adolescents Development Officer will conduct the analysis within the timeframe specified. The analysis is expected to benefit from established best practices and principles, based on a mutually agreed methodology. The analysis should be conducted in a participatory manner, and through consultations with key stakeholders, particularly youth and adolescents who are considered the direct beneficiaries.

The consultant will be required to participate in an inception meeting with the Youth and Adolescent Development Officer at UNICEF Moldova, in order to gain an understanding of the national scope and requirements of this assessment. In consultation with UNICEF, the consultant will be required to produce an inception report, which will include a work plan, the final selection of national research sites and sample characteristics, as well as the research instruments. This activity should not take longer than five days to complete.

The consultant will undertake ten working days conducting a desk review of legal-policy documents, secondary literature, annual reports and other programme documents related to pupils’ participation in decision making processes regarding education and school life. The desk review report will be submitted in Romanian to the Youth and Adolescent Development Officer of UNICEF Moldova.

Over a period of 20 days, the consultant will conduct primary research in pre-specified schools and other educational institutions. Primary research will be undertaken in coordination with UNICEF, as follows:

- Informant interviews with MECR and schools’ representatives responsible for establishing and coordinating pupils’ and students’ councils, including programs and projects related to participation and active citizenship;
- Online focus group discussions with adolescents disaggregated by age and gender, geographic distribution, disability and ethnic groups particularly from vulnerable groups;
- Interviews with Municipal/ Rayonal Directorate on Education (i.e. specialist responsible for pupils’ participation). Is expected that the consultant will organize at least five interviews in the selected administrative units.

Based on the findings of the policy review report and the capacity gap assessment, the consultant will organize an online validation meeting with key informants and representatives of the central and local authorities to collaboratively validate findings of reports and identify actions to improve policies and practices regarding pupils’ participation in decision making processes related to education and school life. Recommendations will be collected from all stakeholders and feed into a capacity building action plan that will guide MECR and UNICEF in further support strengthening the network of pupils’ councils at the school, rayonal and national levels.
