Spend time online together to teach your child appropriate online behaviour and to use the internet for positive learning.

Be supportive and positive when your child comes to you with any issues he or she might be facing online.

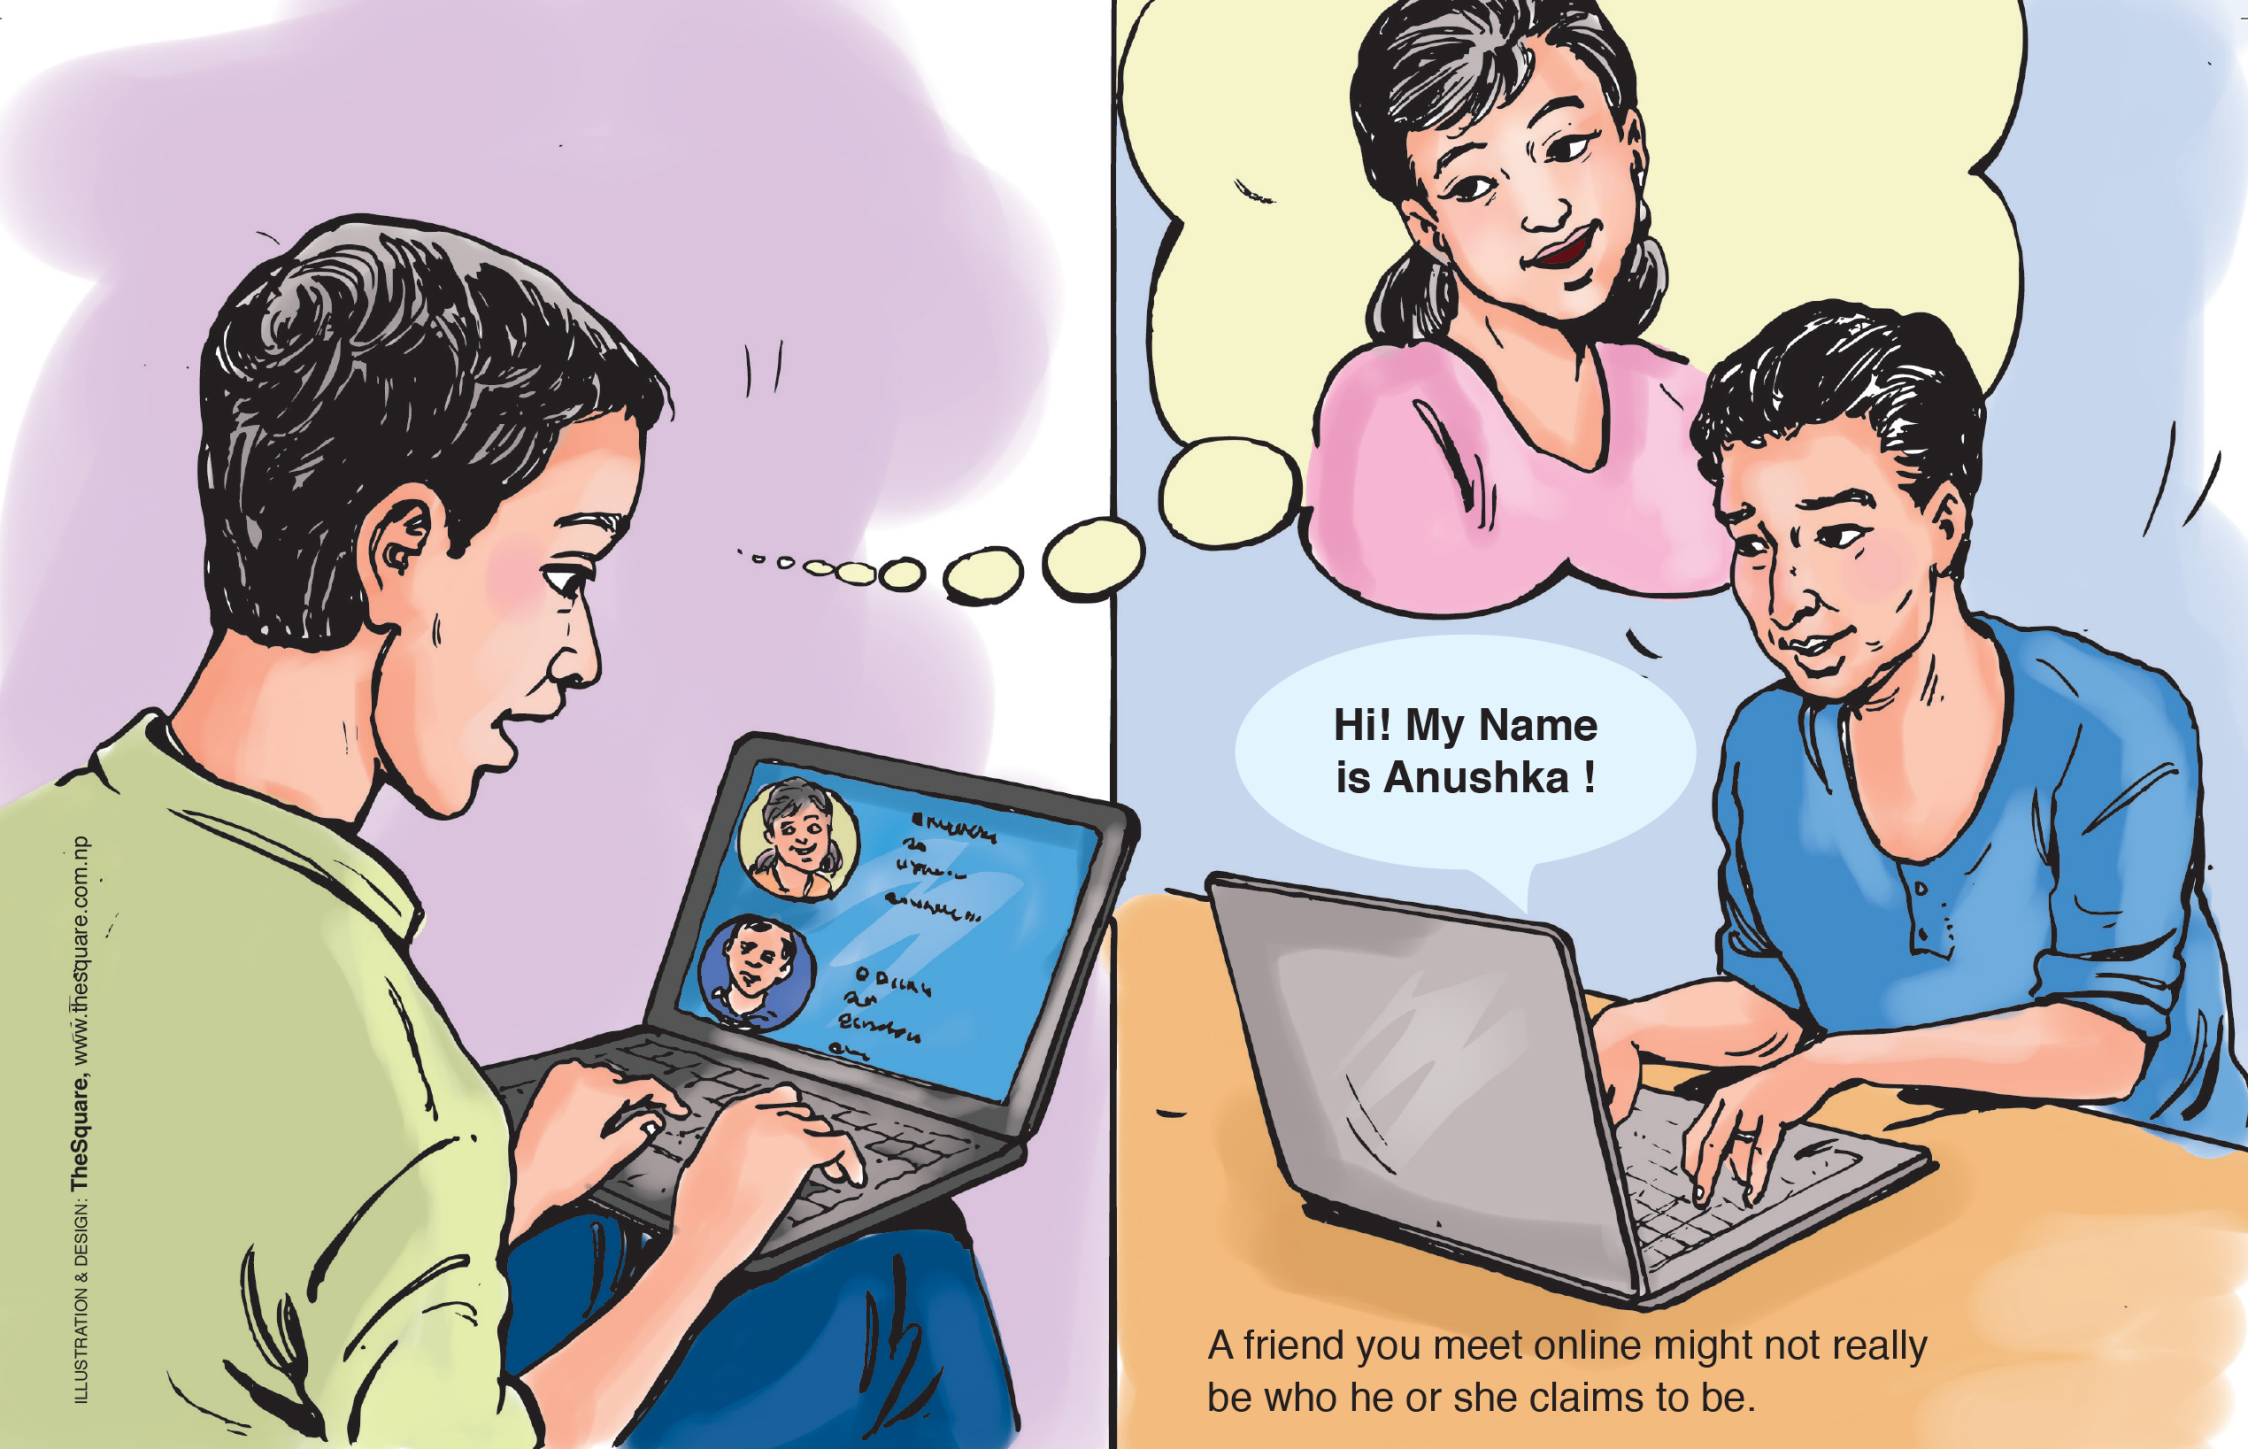

Technology provides new opportunities for learning, so be mindful of how you are using it.

Personal information or photos shared online with few selected friends might be leaked or even altered and available for the entire world.

A friend you meet online might not really be who he or she claims to be.

ILLUSTRATION & DESIGN: TheSquare, www.thesquare.com.np