

2022 HIGHLIGHTS

2022 was a challenging year for Sudan with a deteriorating humanitarian situation. Conflicts, political and economic instability, epidemics, steadily increasing food insecurity and disruption to basic services have left children and families at-risk.

No matter the situation, UNICEF and partners continue to stay and deliver for the children most in need. In 2022, we reached millions of girls and boys with life-sustaining interventions, which would not have been possible without our partners' support.

Thanks to the support from all our implementing and donor partners, UNICEF can continue its mission to meet the needs and fulfil the rights of the most vulnerable children, their families and communities.

unicef
for every child

Sudan

HEALTH AND NUTRITION

18.4M bed nets distributed to promote malaria prevention and awareness

1.4M measles vaccines administered across Sudan

322K children with severe acute malnutrition reached with treatment

WASH

3.1M people affected by conflict, flood, and epidemic have access to life-saving water services

675K people in 510 communities eliminated open defecation

EMERGENCIES

2.6M people gained access to water disinfection, operation and maintenance in humanitarian situations

265K children received psychosocial support

177K children accessed education

EDUCATION

5M children accessed learning

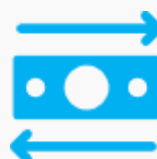

130K out-of-school children reached through alternative learning or e-learning programme.

SOCIAL PROTECTION

312K vulnerable children and household members reached with integrated social protection services.

52K pregnant and lactating mothers reached with integrated social protection services.

BEHAVIOUR CHANGE

2.1M children reached with UNICEF hygiene promotion activities.

70% of identified vaccine refusers accepted vaccinations

CHILD PROTECTION

617K girls reached through the Saleema initiative, supporting the protection of girls from female genital mutilation

1,300 communities declared the abandonment of female genital mutilation

For more information, please reach out to

Mary Louise Eagleton

Deputy Representative

Email: meagleton@unicef.org

Owen Watkins

Chief of Communication, Partnership & Resource Mobilization

Email: owatkins@unicef.org

unicef
for every child