Less than 6,000 children are formally supported in Family Based Care.

Over 120,000 children in residential care in Thailand.

Ministry of Social Development and Human Security
- 32 Children's Homes with 4,000+ children
- 2,000 children in Special Needs facilities

Ministry of Culture
- Responsible for 42,467 temples
- And 33,510 child monks
- Some temples provide a home for over 2,000 children

Ministry of Education
- 48 residential schools for 12,517 children with special needs
- 52 government boarding schools providing alternative care to 30,513 children

Ministry of Justice
- 99 residential facilities - how many of the children are in Alternative Care is yet to be determined.

Alternative Care: Make sure of these!
- No children left behind

In some places, there is a lot of help, but in others not much. This difference isn't based on the needs of the children.

At least 4 ministries involved in the provision of residential care settings.

...Neither the private sector nor government resources for children are coordinated based on the local needs of children.

The north region accounts for 53% of all private children's homes, but only 16.4% of children in Thailand.

679 homes counted, 390 unregistered homes could be as many as 4,300.

2 out of 76 provinces account for 47.7% of all private children's homes.

10 provinces account for 72.6% of all private care facilities.

Mostly led by Christians.

Max 77,000, Min 39,382.

Children in Foster Care: 54,000 supported by government. Only a small number delivers foster care services.